

CMA 2010
Trade Night Series

The Cabinet Makers Association has recognized the importance of balancing our members need for up to the minute information, products, and practices, with the lack of time many small-to-medium business operators have.

This is why your industry association has worked with suppliers to be able to offer you a series of combined trade nights, showcasing up to three industry suppliers each session, allowing you to gain maximum knowledge, with a minimum impact on your time.

The first event for 2010 is in February, with more events planned so far for March, and May.

Southern Cross Splashbacks

The first event is at their state of the art production facility in Mulgrave. Don't miss this fantastic opportunity to see not only the showroom and SC Splashback's latest innovations, but also go behind the scenes on a factory tour.

About Southern Cross Splashbacks

Southern Cross Splashbacks is a part of Southern Cross Ceramics, an Australian owned designer ceramics company committed to manufacturing in Australia. The company is located in Mulgrave and has been in operation since 1987.

Southern Cross Splashbacks has a revolutionary new alternative to floating glass which is Murano glass on a porcelain base. With 75 designer colours and a range of formats and products to choose from the choices are staggering. Some products also contain natural stone to open up endless possibilities.

All of Southern Cross Splashbacks products are made to order with a maximum 10 working day lead time. The beauty of their system is that all products can be ordered off the plan and installed as soon as bench tops and cabinets have been installed. The benefit of this system is that CMA members can be paid more quickly by their clients which helps bring final payments forward for better cash flow.

Southern Cross Splashbacks has an installation service using new generation epoxy grout technology which is 'food grade' and does not stain to complement their beautiful products. All work is guaranteed and all their products have a life time colour warranty.
